HOR scope and practical service this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese bave of late years been comnolled to quin to express the numerous objects in muchinery, photography, tolegrap'ry, and in solence generally, which the rap d a lyance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in extenso. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exerises for students of a most instructive unture. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are givou, the accents being carafully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the Chiness and English type correspondin the size of body, thereby effecting a vast economy of space, achieving a clearness not previously attained, and disponsing with those vast margins and vacant surces which have frade, objects of Natural History, Furniture, beretofore characterized Chinese publications. The scope of the work is so great, and its ntilitarion purposes so complete, that a reference to its pages unables a person who understands English to communicate effectively with patives who understand nothing but Chineso.
